"Packaged" Hospital Ready For Glades Emergency Use

The dormant existence of another hospital in addition to Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade was the topic of a lecture and discussion presented by District 45 of the Florida Nurses' Association at the hospital, Monday night.

Mrs. Jean Scroggins, head nurse at Glades General, introduced Dr. V. D. Stone of West Palm Beach and Major A. E. Fullerton of the Civil Defense, who explained to the hospital staff and interested public the purposes and possible future need of a 200 bed emergency hospital presently stored in the Belle Glade Army.

The emergency hospital, referred to as a Packaged Disaster Hospital (PDH), is stocked with 200 beds, a 30 day supply of drugs, linens and other necessary regular hospital supplies; two gasoline generators in case of power failure, an emergency unit, which operates on similar principles to a polaroid camera; surgical tools & virtually everything needed to open and operate a hospital in the community, without outside help for up to one month.

In case of a national emergency such as nuclear attack, or a natural disaster which either destroyed Glades General or injured more persons than could be handled by the one hospital, the PDH is on hand to be set up and receive patients at Glades General. The PDH is an estimated five to six hours.

The PDH can be used either to extend hospital services or operate on its own as an independent unit. The staff would be furnished by Glades General and aided by an "emergency roving team of volunteer doctors" in Palm Beach County.

Dr. Stone, working with other doctors and the civil defense on this project has drawn up plans for the hospital in relation to the layout of Glades General. It shows, in detail which rooms would be most advantageous for the admitting room, operating room, laboratory, wards, central supply, kitchen, etc.

A film entitled "Hospital for Disaster" stressed the necessity of community preparedness and cooperation. The staff, support, non-medical supplies and other necessary personnel must be supplied from within the community itself, especially in the case of communication failures between towns.

The film demonstrated how pre-planning was important in such matters as readiness of ambulances, availability of narcotics which cannot be stored in the PDH, and arrangements for laundry and other services which must be considered before disaster strikes.

Among other Packaged Disaster Hospitals which could be reached, Dr. Stone named one presently in West Palm Beach and two more expected to be set up there: one in Clewiston, Fort Pierce, and Stuart; four in Dade County, one in Broward and one in Lee Counties.

"One of our main problems," said Dr. Stone, "is finding adequate storage space. Around 1000 square feet of space is needed to store the PDH and also heating and refrigeration."

Dr. V. D. Stone, guest speaker at the District Nurses' Association meeting Monday night is backed, L-R by Ben Clarke, administrator of Glades General Hospital; Hilda Jensen, President of District 45 of the Florida Nurses' Association; and Major A. D. Fullerton of the Palm Beach County Civil Defense who accompanied and aided Dr. Stone in the presentation of the film and in answering questions.

AT REPUBLICAN DINNER — L-R: John Jordan and Ray Moudry, candidates for the House of Representatives; John Cary, field representative from Republican state headquarters shaking hands with Dr. Thomas P. Baker, vice president of the Glades Republican Club; Dave Clark, also candidate for House and incumbent Jack Poorbaugh for re-election to the House.

Republican Dinner Hosts Candidates - 4 Speakers

Republican candidates were invited to attend the buffet dinner of the Glades Republican Club, Saturday, at the Country Club and give a ten minute talk.

First speaker was incumbent Jack Poorbaugh, representative for district 77 who deplored the condition of SR 80 as the "most dangerous stretch of road in America and we can't find a way for it."

Poorbaugh suggested that the road should be designated as part of the national defense system, inasmuch as Communist Cuba is located only 90 miles south of Florida with "possible ICBMs."

Ray Moudry, candidate for district 79 of the House said he was not in favor of deepening the Port of Palm Beach because of the possibility of "further oil damage" from visiting freighters.

Moudry went on to say that he felt that the "crime in the streets was promoted by recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court" and was in favor of electing the judges rather than appointing them.

Next speaker was John Jordan, candidate for district 80 of the House, who said that he was a God and prayer in school.

Jordan also believed that "hard work, love of country and respect for law and order" were some of the things this country needs to get back to.

"The basics don't change," said Jordan, and I feel that the people should gain according to effort put forth. He finished by saying that the "poor people are having a party sponsored by the federal government."

Dave Clark, member of the North Palm Beach City Council, candidate for district 81 of the House brought out that he had run for office in Orange County and felt that he could serve the people here.

Other candidates introduced were: Ann McKay, district 5, school board; Bill Bailey, district 5, county commissioners; and Judge Wm. C. White, now magistrate and candidate for criminal court judge.

The expansion cost has been estimated at more than $375,000. Last summer $600,000 was spent by the county school system on expansion and improvement at Belle Glade High School.

The Belle Glade High School expansion program includes a new library, expansion of the administrative suite, expansion and improvement to the music suite, remodeling the business department, expansion of the remodeling of the agricultural department, and buying new furniture and equipment.

As is the monthly custom, the departments of the City of Belle Glade have turned in their activity reports for May.

Permits for two new homes and two demolitions were issued by the Building Inspection Department. It also lists the issuance of 13 permits for additions and repairs, three for sewer connections, one for moving and for an apartment, and four for lifts and electric. This makes a total of 26 permits setting $201.15 in fees. The department shows an increase in valuations of $33,011 over the first five months of 1967.

The Sewage Treatment Plant reported a flow for the month of 1,027,600 gallons and 248,000 gallons of sludge were fed to the digester. The high and low temperatures for May were 90 degrees and 60 degrees respectively with 10.99" of rain during the month. Activities such as weeding the plant fence area, planting flowers, cleaning up two buildings, painting the ch-

Fireworks To Be Seen In Pahokee On 4th

The Annual Fourth of July fireworks exhibition will be held at the breakwater in Pahokee at dusk, Jack Herick, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Fireworks committee stated.

Herick, whose committee is working in conjunction with the Lions Club, went on to say that this year the fireworks display will be even better than last year. C. W. Pell, newly installed president of the Lions club, replied, "The goal is to always make it better," when asked who he thought about the fireworks display planned this year.

Preceding the fireworks, the Lions' Club will serve a barbeque dinner at their clubhouse. It will start at 11 a. m. and the cost is $7.50 for children and $12.50 for adults, Pell said.

The Lions' Pell stated, will donate part of the profits from the barbeque to help pay the cost of the $740 fireworks display. Donations from local citizens and businesses will also help.

Other profits gained from the barbeque will be used to buy eyeglasses for needy children. Pell said. This is the Lions' year, by project called "Sight Conservation."

The Municipal Golf Course brought in $1057.60 from pro shop sales, $1719.50 from electric cart rentals, $68.00 from pull carts and $744.60 in green fees. There were 1,223 players on the course during May, 209 of whom were students. Eleven junior lessons and 35 half-hour lessons were given. The greens are reported to be in better condition than they have been for quite a while, though May brought a lot of rain and there were a few days when the grass in the fairways was quite high. Plans are being made for some major improvements in the near future.

"New adult books topped the market over the juvenile books at the library last month with 52 nonfiction and 52 fiction books being added to the adult shelves and only two each non-fiction and fiction being added for the juveniles. The patron registration for May was 2,150 from the 12 fires reported last month. The fire department also answered three rescue or emergency calls. One fire was out before the arrival of the apparatus, one was extinguished by hand extinguishers, and six by other means. The nine control fires caused estimated losses of $2,996.00, a decrease of $2,429 from the 12 fires reported last

Kenny Lopez First L. Leaguer To Hit Homer

Kenny Lopez, 12, who last season played catcher for the Consolidated Chemical Team, made history by being the first Little Leaguer to hit a home run. "It was a 200 yard hit" that cleared the fence by more than ten feet," says coach Rusty Hall. Hall, said that Kenny had been just swinging the bat all season long and finally "squeezed into one." Coaching with Hall was Jorge Rodriguez, assistant.

Hall tells the boys when a teammate is on first to let the first pitch go so that the runner can go to second and ease the pressure. Occasionally a boy asks what if the first one is where I want it... "then it had better be over the fence."

KENNY LOPEZ

For the team it was a pretty good season too, with six wins and four games rained out. Priority to the All-Star Game, the team had only been scored against 12 times while racking up 70 runs themselves.

The Consolidated team was finally beaten in a two-hour and twenty-minute grind that featured a pitchers duel and an on-field under three inches of water... final score 5-3.

EMERGENCY CARE COURSE

The A. F. Kennedy Memorial Hospital will sponsor a second course on "Emergency Care of the Sick and Injured," June 29th and 30th, from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., in the Hospital Conference Room. Drs. F. W. Glas and J. R. Harp, program chairmen, announced.

Hospital

must be provided for the drugs. In a discussion session following the film, the main questions raised were: "Who would be in charge of mobilization of our disaster hospital?" and "Why don't we have copies of the plan for the hospital?"

Dr. Stone explained that the administrator of Glades General, Ben Clarke, would start "things rolling" after receiving the necessary okay to open the hospital.

The go ahead for setting up the PDH must come from Dr. C. L. Brumback who is the director of the Palm Beach County Health Department and is responsible to the federal government for Palm Beach County's disaster hospitals.

The plan, he added, would be furnished to the administrator. If needed, however, he felt the hospital could be set up even without the plan.

It is also hoped that certain equipment furnished by the state may be brought to Belle Glade in the near future for the use of training personnel in the use of the unfamiliar emergency equipment and a class arranged for those who would work with the hospital in the event of a disaster.

Major Fullerton passed out booklets to those present on what to do in case of nuclear attack or natural disaster. The booklets explain what can be done within the home if there is no fallout shelter available.

Major Fullerton went on to point out that to date there are no shelters available in this community. The main difficulty, he explained, is the shortage of basements, which are ideal for shelters, in this part of Florida.

A team of engineers and architects have blue prints of the buildings in Belle Glade which are canvassing them for possible emergency shelters. So far, he remarked, the only satisfactory shelter would be the vault at the Bank of Belle Glade.

A physician's emergency assignment list is being distributed among the hospitals in the Glades area.

Mrs. Jean Scroggins, head nurse at Glades General, planned the program Monday night and introduced the guests.

YOUR MONEY

By Richard A. Poston

If you had become a "member" of a savings and loan association a hundred years ago, it would have been far different from joining one today. You'd have been one of a small group, a few dozen people, probably all near-by friends and neighbors.

There weren't any professional management personnel then. You chose members to handle the details on a part-time basis, generally without pay. Meetings were held in various members' homes, or perhaps in a convenient inn in the town. The whole function of these associations was to enable members to save together... so that each in turn could finance a home from those cooperative savings.

Those first savings and loan associations were small, but they were products of a very big idea... so big that in little over a century the savings and loan idea has mushroomed to the point where more than one-fourth of all the savings in the United States is in savings and loan associations... earning high dividends with safety and providing the funds to finance more homes than any other single source. (P.S. Have YOU made this big idea part of your savings plan?)

Water Drainage Problem Topic Of Pahokee Council Meeting

Pahokee — About 15 residents from Royal Palm Manor, aroused by water standing in their front yards or their neighbor's yard, attended the City Council meeting at 7:30 p. m. here Tuesday to request a solution from the Council to end the water problem.

After over an hour's discussion it was decided that City Attorney Ralph Johnson would draw up the six-foot easement in the backyards of those lots most in need of drainage and dig shallow swells that would be channeled to a central catch, and from there be routed underground to a drainage canal nearby.

According to a resident of the manor, there has been a drainage problem in this development for about five years, or since it was built. Reportedly, proper drainage was not constructed when the project was built. Every year the residents have tried to get their lots drained during the rainy season, it was stated.

In other authorized the Council.

After the Council meeting, Ralph Johnson drew up a deed for 30 easement Charles Lafayette has been given by Raymond Crosby, to build water and sewage lines through to his housing development.

Ferlin Huskey is known as one of the greatest one-man shows in the business. His recording successes are almost legendary, including such notable lists as "Gone," "Wings of a Dove," and one high on the charts right now "Just for You." Ferlin has starred in several movies, including "Country Music on Broadway," "Las Vegas Hill Billies," and "Hill Billies in a Haunted House."

is profitable"

There's no denying; proper irrigation can make every acre a bigger profit-maker. It's a routine production practice on thousands of Florida farms and groves where electrically-powered pumps have proved their dependability and economy.

Electric motors give years of carefree service. They start instantly. No refueling is necessary... and no priming. Easily controlled by time-clocks or float-switches. These controls can make irrigation automatic, labor-saving, and conserves water, too.

Scout Troops Return From Tanah Keetu

Boy Scout Troops 622 and 601 had a big week at the Boy Scout Camp Tanah Keetu, June 16-22. Acting as Senior Patrol leader was Emilio Echave of Troop 601.

The "F" Troop Patrol leader was George Molina of Troop 622 with scouts Pat Miner and John Moses of Troop 622 and Tony Martinez, Weyman Bussey and Robert Aleman.

The Gator Patrol leader was Buddy Blair. The Patrol was composed of scouts, Bobby Allen, Robert Berry, James Dougherty, Timmy Pace, Bobby Williams and Richard Walden all of Troop 622.

Moves To Stop Census Invasion Of Privacy

Congressman Paul G. Rogers introduced a bill aimed at prohibiting the Federal government from using the upcoming 1970 census as a means of invading the privacy of American citizens.

"The provision in the Constitution which set out that a census shall be taken each 10 years was designed to count people, not to probe into their private affairs, confuse or embarrass them," Rogers said. "The whole thing is taking on the appearance of Big Brotherism."

Rogers noted that an effort was made last year to establish a national data bank which would have information of a private and personal nature on all citizens, and that he opposed such an idea on the same grounds — that it was an invasion of privacy and smacked of Big Brotherism.

"The plain and simple fact of the matter is that the Census Bureau is attempting to go well beyond its jurisdiction and the intent of the law," Rogers said. Some of the questions reflect on areas which only the Internal Revenue Service should be concerned with. Others cover areas which private consumer surveys handle. The fact that a person might or might not have a home freezer has no bearing in the intent of the census.

"Questions on how many people share a kitchen or bathroom are irrelevant. Others that ask for information on previous marriages and how many hours you worked last year are quite immaterial," Rogers said.

Rogers also pointed out that the long-form census runs some 20 pages and that it has been estimated that to answer it completely, one would need a minimum of an eighth grade education.

Rogers also noted that the 1960 census missed an estimated 5.7 million people.

"If we do not act on this legislation and the proposed form is sent out, I predict that we will see a decrease in the paper population count of the nation. People will refuse to answer these questions or return the forms and therefore will not exist on paper," Rogers said.

Because the membership of the Congress is determined by population, the increase in population between census has resulted in bitter court fights which have resulted in redistricting. To help straighten out discrepancies due to inadequate population figures, Rogers supported a bill calling for a mid-decade census. This measure has passed the House and is pending in the Senate.

Rogers' bill would limit the 120 questions now proposed by the census to: 1. name and address; 2. relation to head of household; 3. sex; 4. date of birth; 5. race or color; 6. marital status and 7. visitors in home at the time of the census. Rogers added that he felt a separate group of questions could be included with the 7 items form and could be marked plainly as voluntary. But other than the 7 questions, Rogers sees no reason why citizens should face a possible $100 fine or 60 days in jail for not sending to the Federal government's probing into an individual's private matters.

Mowing Machine To Help Speed Flow Of Water

An underwater mowing machine will be used at the north end of Everglades National Park to cut sawgrass which is hampering the flow of water into the Park from the flood-soaked Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project.

Joe J. Koperski of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers today announced that the Everglades Park officials have consented to mowing 200-foot-wide and 1500-foot-long strips inside Everglades Park, just south of the Tamiami Trail. Koperski said a mowing machine will be moved into the area Monday to begin the operation which is expected to take two weeks of little to complete.

Heavy rainfall over South Florida during the past six weeks has created flood stages in Lake Okechobee and in the three water conservation areas covering some 1345 square miles north of Everglades Park.

All 24 gates of the water control structures separating Conservation Area 3 of the flood control project from the north boundary of the park have been wide open for several weeks. However, the thick sawgrass in the park has impeded the flow of water into the park where it is most needed.

Koperski said some 2200 cubic feet per second of water are now flowing into the park from Conservation Area 3. He said 25 to 50 per cent more water probably will be moved into the park when the grass swaths have been cut.

Because all three conservation areas and Lake Okechobee are above desired regulation stage for this time of year, and all water storage areas are filled, excess water is being released to tide water through the St. Lucie Canal on the Atlantic and the Caloosahatchee River on the Gulf.

Lake Okechobee on Friday, June 21 stood at 14.29 feet a-

Elected officers included: Wil. J. Cassidy, president, Boca Raton; Charles O. King, West Palm Beach, vice president; Howard E. Campbell, North Palm Beach, treasurer; and George C. Young, Belle Glade, secretary. All of the officers are directors and other directors are Franklin S. Cuyler, Lake Worth; Mrs. Mamie Jo Gillespie, Jupiter; Henry Eilers, South Bay; County Commissioner George V.

Warren, Delray Beach; and Mayor Robert D. Johnson, Lake Worth.

The organization provides for fifteen members with the additional vacancies to be filled over a period with new directors to represent other communities and organizations actively interested in aging problems.

Plans were set at the meeting to initiate an active membership campaign among the county's 35,000 people who are interested in aging problems. Senior Citizens groups are invited to place institutional membership.

The membership fee for individuals was set at $1.00 per year. The group will be developed by a committee appointed for that purpose.

Other committees appointed were to coordinate the work of the local group with the Florida Commission on Aging which provides professional help to local organizations and partially finances acceptable projects up to a period of three years.

And, to develop a job description and to consider applications for the position of administrative officers.

The public may obtain additional information from local directors or write to George Young, Secretary, Box 756, Belle Glade, Fla. 33430.

The new organization expects to fully support all existing efforts to meet the needs of the aging and to encourage these organizations to make their experience available to other communities.

The Palm Beach County Council on Aging will set its goals as all, or part of the following:

1. Recognize and eradicate out-moded attitudes about older people.

2. Provide and interpret facts about older people in Palm Beach County.

3. Demonstrate and establish needed programs and services.

4. Work with individuals, groups, organizations and agencies in developing programs and needed services.

5. Assist intelligent citizen action on local, state and national measures by providing channels of information, etc.

6. Increase the efficiency and adequacy of programs and services.

7. Identify and delineate areas in which study and research are needed. The first project is to establish a Senior Citizens Service Center. The immediate need is for public support in the form of good will.
